Regulation D - Notice of Change

Transaction Limitations Eliminated

In April 2020, the Federal Reserve Board eliminated the Regulation D transaction limit of six (6) per month on transfers and withdrawals from Savings accounts and Money Market accounts. In response to the Federal Reserve Board's action, Connecticut Community Bank, N.A. temporarily eliminated limitations on transfers from all Savings accounts and Money Market accounts from May 1, 2020 through October 31, 2021.

Effective November 1, 2021, Connecticut Community Bank, N.A. has chosen to permanently eliminate these limitations.

Consequently, unlimited withdrawals or transfers will be permissible from Savings accounts and Money Market accounts to another account at Connecticut Community Bank or to third parties by preauthorized, automatic or personal computer (online banking or mobile banking) including those made by check, debit card, draft, or similar order to third parties.
